DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings were received on 03/23/2005. These drawings are acceptable.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 2-8 and 12-13 are allowed. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Huberman (U.S. 5,330,400) teaches a play structure including a closed loop with members inside, however, the closed loop cannot be construed as a frame, nor does Huberman teach a connector comprising rubber bushing which surround the mounting shaft affixed to the end of the closed loop.

3. Berglund et al. (U.S. 6,475,117) teaches connection structures for a playground device. Berglund fails to teach connector comprising rubber bushing which surround the mounting shaft affixed to the end of the play unit wherein the play unit may have a limited and dampened swinging movement as a result of the rubber bushing.

4. Merrill (U.S. 6,174,266) teaches a play unit, but also fails to teach a connector comprising rubber bushing which surround the mounting shaft affixed to the end of the play unit wherein the play unit may have a limited and dampened swinging movement as a result of the rubber bushing. Merrill further fails to teach a closed loop frame with members inside the frame.

5. Katz (U.S. 6,095,950) teaches play units including a closed loop frame. The closed loop frame lacks members inside the frame as presented in the current invention. Furthermore, Katz fails to teach the mounting shaft, and connector comprising rubber bushing as substantially claimed.

6. Laudenslager (U.S. 6,090,018) teaches a mounting shaft as broadly interpreted, and a rubber bushing. Laudenslager fails to teach or make obvious a closed loop with a number of members inside the frame. (Examiner has interpreted the phrase 'a number of members' to mean a plurality of members).

7. Prueitt (U.S. 6,010,429) teaches a device including a mounting shaft, and a connector. Prueitt fails to teach a closed loop with a plurality of members inside the frame formed by the closed loop connected to the mounting shaft, and further fails to teach or make obvious the connector having a rubber bushing thereby giving swinging movement to the play unit and mounting shaft.

8. Briggs (U.S. 5,967,901) teaches the general state of playground devices. Briggs fails to teach the device as substantially claimed, including features such as the closed loop frame with members inside, a mounting shaft attached to the end of the closed loop frame, a post, and a connector comprising rubber bushing in the post which receives the mounting shaft thereby allowing dampened swinging movements.

9. The prior art of record fails to teach the device comprising a play unit in the form of a closed loop with a plurality of members inside the frame formed by the loop, a mounting shaft attached to the end of the closed loop, a post having a connector comprising rubber bushing wherein the mounting shaft of the play unit is received by the connector thereby allowing dampened swinging movement of the play unit as a whole.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
